

ARS Environmental Review Services are Performed for Environmental Managers and Other Senior Management of Client Companies

The Reviews are conducted in the same manner that an expert witness would review a case during their preparation for court. The Reviews identify the problems producing loss or exposure to regulatory issues and suggest the most effective remedy. During the review, every effort is made to help the local management understand how to manage their safety and regulatory programs. After each review there is a detailed report developed that covers all the review findings, measures each segment and sets up a workable action plan. This allows the client to track their progress and use the results in their management's standards of performance and in their periodic performance reviews. All reviews begin with an opening conference to discuss the review strategy with local management and ends with a closing conference to discuss the review findings. Each ARS Environmental Reviews™ is tailored for the client and usually consists of a combination of one or more of the following types of reviews.

- Waste Management and Recycling
- Storage Tanks
- General Administration
- Storm Water Management
- Spill Prevention
- Water Quality
- Air Quality
